

Elaine Miller MS Ed.

Elaine Miller is a community activist and co-founder of Plane Sense for LI and the Nassau Aviation Committee. She is dedicated to working with communities to help alleviate the devastating effects of noise and toxic emissions generated by low flying aircraft in constricted airspace. She has appeared on numerous media outlets to bring awareness to the residents of affected neighborhoods.

PLANE SENSE 4 LI is an organization whose members work together to exact legislative changes that will restore the quality of life for all of the communities impacted by the redesign of flight patterns due to the implementation of NextGen. Plane Sense started years ago as a small dedicated group who worked to establish a plan for growth and development that would enable people to receive vital information concerning their plight. Plane Sense has a shared purpose which functions as a meeting place for the exchange of constructive ideas and enacting change.

NASSAU COUNTY AVIATION COMMITTEE consists of local legislators both on county and state levels. The goal of the committee is to work with local communities that have been greatly impacted by aviation noise and emissions by passing bills that will enable environmental studies on the effects of noise and air pollution generated by excessive flights.
