

Health & Safety Trainers' Exchange:

New Tools, Technologies, and Emerging Issues for Health and Safety Trainers

JUNE 26, 2014 8:00 AM – 5:00 PM

Co-Sponsored by Washington State Labor Education and Research Center, South Seattle College, Harry Bridges Center for Labor Studies and the Washington State Labor Council, AFL-CIO.

Health and safety trainers face tremendous challenges as they educate workers about how to stay healthy and safe on the job and how to speak up about workplace dangers.

During this full-day course, trainers will learn about new studies and effective tools for addressing emerging issues in the workplace including whistle blower protection, safety culture, and bullying among workers. They will participate in interactive, small-group workshops focusing on training tools and methods to improve the trainer's health and safety knowledge. This course also will help health and safety trainers meet goals of reducing injuries and illnesses at work.

TOPICS

Rooting Out the Confusion Over Safety Culture and Climate
 Whistleblower Protection Laws
 How to Motivate and "Activate" Workers about Health & Safety
 Technology Tools of the Trade: Safety Mobile Apps and YouTube Videos
 Training Techniques to Raise Health and Safety Awareness
 Among Young Workers
 Strategies to Prevent Workplace Mistreatment and Bullying

INTENDED AUDIENCE

This course is targeted towards health and safety trainers who serve both union and non-union workplaces, labor leaders, health and safety committee representatives, apprenticeship coordinators, safety representatives, OSHA outreach trainers as well as supervisors, foremen, and contractors.

See reverse side for more information.

Health & Safety Trainers' Exchange:

New Tools, Technologies, and Emerging Issues for Health and Safety Trainers

DATE & TIME

June 26, 2014
8:00 am–5:00 pm

LOCATION

South Seattle Community College Georgetown Campus,
6737 Corson Avenue South, Seattle

PLANNING COMMITTEE

Will Brucher, WA State Labor Education and Research Center
Angela Day, University of Washington, Department of Political Science
Steve Hecker, Oregon Healthy Workforce and UW DEOHS
Andrew Hedden, Harry Bridges Center for Labor Studies
Sarah Laslett, WA State Labor Education and Research Center
Jody Robbins, WA State Department of Labor & Industries
Nancy Simcox, University of Washington, DEOHS Continuing Education
Erich Smith, Build It Smart
Robin Smith, Laborer Local 292
Mike Warren, Northwest Laborers Training
Ed Wood, Communications Workers of America Local 7818
Bruce Zeller, WA State Department of Labor & Industries

REGISTRATION

Register Online at osha.washington.edu or by calling the Northwest Center at 206-543-1069

Standard Registration:	$60
Late Registration after 6/12/2014:	$110

To request disability accommodation, contact the Disability Services Office at least 10 days in advance at: 206-543-6450 (voice); 206-543-6452 (TDY); 206-685-7264 (FAX); or dso@u.washington.edu (e-mail)

ABOUT US

Our Continuing Education Programs provide environmental and occupational safety and health training for workers, managers, and practitioners in Region 10. Our Pacific Northwest OSHA Education Center provides a variety of OSHA-authorized courses. Our Northwest Center for Occupational Health & Safety was established in 1977 and is one of 18 Education and Research Centers supported by the National Institute for Occupational Safety & Health (NIOSH). Most courses are eligible for Continuing Education Units for professional practice maintenance.